Use Diversity to Enhance Learning in the 21st century

UDEL 21

Since September 2015, 6 organisations are partners in a European project dedicated to the exploitation of diversity in the world of education: UDEL 21 (Use Diversity to Enhance Learning in the 21st century): Katholiek Onderwijs Vlaanderen (Flemish part of Belgium, coordinator), SeGEC (French speaking part of Belgium), Aisis (Czech Republic), Europa Büro Stadtschulrat für Wien (Austria), Osnovna šola Lucija (Slovenia) and Perugia University (Italy).

In addition to a common reference framework, this strategic partnership is working on developing relations between tens of schools, from here and elsewhere, to exchange their practices regarding diversity at different levels: socio-cultural, multilinguistic, gender and variability of teaching and learning methods.

Tools !

Following a call made to all schools, some of them joined us in order to create pedagogical cards for activities to be carried out in the classroom, at the fundamental and secondary levels, and the higher pedagogical education level as well.

Dissemination and Formation Events

Do you want to take up the challenge of diversity for your pupils, teams and schools? Then, block already the following dates and join us for international conferences and trainings in English, the opportunity to discover the results of the project through a theoretical and practical approach!

How to do?

Contact one of the partners or/and your National Agency to introduce an application for an ERASMUS+ grant (deadline for submitting : 2 February 2017... don't wait!)
